Apone still missing

Search area widens for youth who jumped off Bay bridge

by Dan Barber
Echo staff writer

Search operations were being continued this week for a 21-year-old Pascagoula resident who jumped from the Bay St. Louis bridge last Saturday afternoon with the announced intention of swimming to shore.

Authorities identified the youth as Mark Apone of Springfield, Ohio, who was employed by Ingalls Shipyard in Pascagoula as a pipe welder.

Hancock County Civil Defense Director Don McIntyre said Tuesday that search teams were continuing to comb waters surrounding the area where the youth supposedly jumped but were hampered by not knowing the exact point the youth was seen.

Dragging operations were being conducted over most of the North Bay from Henderson Point to Square Handkerchief Shoals but McIntyre indicated that the search area would probably be expanded daily.

Members of the youth's family, who arrived in Bay St. Louis Tuesday morning, were holding out hope that Apone was still alive. A companion of Apone, Arthur Van Reed, 25, who was with him Saturday, waited with the family.

Reed told Hancock authorities Saturday that he and Apone were traveling west across the bridge in a Ford van truck when Apone suddenly told him to stop the truck so that he could jump off the bridge. He said that both he and Apone had been drinking beer.

Reed said that he didn't have any luck in dissuading Apone from jumping but did drive farther across the bridge before stopping the truck and letting Apone out.

"I told him not to jump in the middle," Reed said. "I told him if he was going to jump to at least get closer to the shore."

Authorities marked the point of young Apone's jump at about 300 yards from the end of the bridge.

Reed said that after Apone jumped he saw the youth lying on his back treading water and that he did not appear to be in any trouble. Reed said that he got back in the truck and drove to the end of the bridge where he waited for Apone but never saw the youth again.

After almost 15 minutes, Reed said he became worried and told a nearby fisherman what had happened.

Robert Heitzmann, a Bay St. Louis resident who was traveling east across the bridge, corroborated Reed's statement that he let Apone out of the truck in the middle of the bridge.

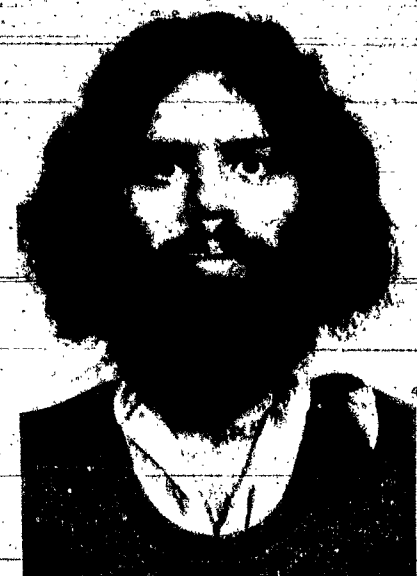

Heitzmann said that he noticed a red Ford van stopped approximately one-third of the way across the bridge and then a person moving from the truck, going to the rail and jumping off into the water. Heitzmann said that he continued across the bridge, watching the van pull away, and then flagged down a Mississippi Highway Patrol car. Apone, who was wearing blue jean overalls, left his wallet in the van when he got out. Reed said that he could not remember whether the youth was wearing shoes or not and did not know whether Apone could even swim.

"I just took it for granted he could," he said.

Reed declared that Apone was not acting peculiar in any other respect and that he considered him a very stable person. The youth seemed confused at the unexpected turn of events.

"It was just crazy. I should have never stopped. I should have talked him out of it."

The family of Mark Apone has released this photo of their son and is requesting anyone who may have information pertaining to the youth's whereabouts or circumstances surrounding last Saturday's accident to please contact the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Five bomb threats in LB during week

The fifth bomb threat in Long Beach during the past week was received at Long Beach Junior High School at 11:40 a.m. Wednesday.

While police and fire department units rushed to the scene, the school evacuated. After a thorough search, no bomb was found.

Long Beach police chief Harry Kaletsch said the bomb threat was the second received at the junior high school. Two other threats were received at Long Beach High School and one was received at the National Food Store, Kaletsch said.

The maximum penalty for making bomb threats is two years in prison, he said.

The caller in each of the recent bomb threats is believed to be a young male, according to the chief.

Returning to the approximate point where his companion Mark Apone jumped off the Bay St. Louis Bridge, Arthur Van Reed watches quietly as search teams drag the channel below him for the youth's body. Young Apone was not seen again after jumping off the bridge approximately 4:15 p.m. last Saturday.

Hancock supervisors veto Ladner's request

An attempt by Hancock county supervisor Jerry Ladner to win approval of the board for location of a liquor distillery in Hancock county failed at a Monday meeting.

Ladner's appeal on behalf of Southern Distillers to establish a distillery operation at the Port Bienvenue Industrial Park met with less than enthusiastic response from fellow board members.

The Mississippi based company, by whom Ladner said he has been employed for the past nine months, has a bottling plant in Vicksburg but is seeking another location for the distillery. A negative reaction by Vicksburg area residents to the liquor company has led to the quest for another site, Ladner said, in asking Hancock supervisors to negotiate with company representatives. Board president A. A. Keller's remark that this was a matter for Port and Harbor officials rather than the county board was apparently the consensus of the board as Ladner's motion for negotiation died for lack of a second.

In other business, L. J. Breaux was named to replace the late Johnson Shaw on the Pearl River Basin Development Commission, by unanimous motion.

A newly implemented program for continuing vocational-educational training, financed by the Veterans Administration was described by Chester Curvey, county service officer.

The program provides a supplemental income to qualified veterans, enabling them to remain in a full time job while attending school. Supervisors need only to submit certain forms to Jackson to open the program in Hancock county, Curvey said, so that county employees may take advantage of the program. A motion was passed unanimously to accept.

Suspected murderer is returned to Bay St. Louis

A man, sought nationwide by authorities for eight months, was returned to Hancock county by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner Tuesday afternoon to face trial for murder.

Sheriff Ladner flew to Salt Lake City, Utah Monday to extradite Carl Harvey Smith, 50, indicted by a Hancock county grand jury for the July 9, 1973 railroad boxcar murder of Clarence Edward Malone. Smith was arrested in Utah by FBI agents March 4.

An indictment was also brought against Smith for assault and battery with intent to kill, based on a story told to local police by Ernest Lee Porterfield who testified that Smith had allegedly killed Malone then attacked him (Porterfield) in the empty L&N boxcar as it sped through Hancock county. Malone's body was discovered July 10 by railroad workers in Lakeshore and Porterfield was arrested in Pass Christian where he jumped off the moving train to escape the attack.

Smith is being held without bond pending trial in the July term of circuit court.

Porterfield was released on bond some two months ago but will have to return to Bay St. Louis as a material witness in the trial.

Long Beach urges completion of smallcraft harbor

The Long Beach board of aldermen passed a resolution Tuesday night urging the completion of the small craft harbor facility.

The resolution will be sent to the Ernest Construction Company which had been contracted for the job. Construction on the facility was supposed to have been completed at the end of 1973.

The resolution, which will also be sent to the Hancock County Commission, asks the commission to institute whatever legal remedies are available to it to insure compliance with the contract.

In other business, the board voted to withdraw from the Harrison County Civil Defense Department. The city will maintain its own civil defense unit, Mayor Donnie Simmons said.

The board voted a $100 salary raise to city judge Joseph Mackey over his

Says city not benefiting

Mayor unhappy with fee

Controversy surrounding the engineering firm of Burk & Associates surfaced again Monday morning in chambers of the Bay St. Louis city council. The issue at hand Monday revolved around payment of a $100 a month retainer fee to the firm as consulting engineers to the city of Bay St. Louis.

Mayor Warren Carver told Commissioners Lucien Kidd and Clarence Ladner that he could not see where the city was benefiting from retaining the engineers and advised terminating services on a retainer basis. Carver said he was referring specifically to progress on a street and drainage working on.

"We (the city) have paid out $700 to these people," Carver said, and I can't see where we have benefited from any of it."

Carver said that he objected to paying the engineers double every time they came into the city to consult about engineering problems.

"I feel," Carver said, "that we have local people here who could be doing this work just as well."

An associate of the firm, George Klempeter, said that contrary to what the mayor charged the firm was working as contracted on the city's drainage problems and was available for consultation and assistance in any respect that the city wished to use them.

Klempeter said that his firm was concerned with the city's area drainage problems at the present time.

"The major drainage problems are behind the homes...not in the streets," he said. "We are not redoing any of your streets."

Commissioner Ladner said that he felt to terminate the services of the firm at the present time would be like throwing $700 down the drain and recommended that the council delay making any decision until the end of the budget year when it could review and reevaluate what the city had received for its money.

Carver, who has gone on record as never being in favor of retaining what he called "a firm of questionable ability" several months ago, said Monday that he would like to take the matter up again in a future meeting.

In other business the council asked city attorney Jody Gex to check into the legality of a purchase of eight inch pipe from L&A Construction Co. without advertising for bids.

Utility commissioner Lucien Kidd told the council several weeks ago that he purchased the pipe valued at over $5000 from L&A for $1,500. The pipe, he said, was surplus from a Wiggins, Miss. job by the contractor.

Mayor Carver said that he questioned the legality of the city buying the pipe without advertising for bids even if the city "got a bargain."

In other business the council voted to pay dues for the city volunteer fire department of $72 to the state association and $54 to the county from revenue sharing funds.

Look under consideration a proposal for a free lunch program for youth participating in summer parks recreation programs.

Easter Sunrise Service planned

The Hancock county Chamber of Commerce will again this year sponsor an Easter Sunrise Service on the front lawn of Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis, Chamber president Nicholas Haas announced.

The ecumenical service, celebrated by ministers of several faiths, will begin at 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunday morning and all area residents are invited to attend, Haas said.

Legislative wrapup

PENITENTIARY BILL

A death blow was dealt to prison reform efforts in the House of representatives Tuesday when a compromise plan to revamp operations of the state penitentiary at Parchman failed to pass the House vote.

Penitentiary committee members in the House made valiant efforts to salvage the bill, which had been buffeted back and forth throughout the entire legislative session as both Senate and lower House committees amended, re-wrote and re-vamped the bill in a legislative battle for supremacy.

Monday the House of Representatives rejected the controversial prison reform measure and sent it back to the Conference Committee.

In a late afternoon move, the lower chamber voted not to accept the compromise version mainly because opponents said it calls for the continuation of the prison board.

Tupelo representative A. C. Lambert said the measure did not give adequate authority to the superintendent to run the troubled Delta Penal Farm. As he put it, "Somebody has got to be the boss...somebody has got to make the decisions."

Following the voice vote that recommitted the prison reform measure, house penitentiary committee chairman Bob Anderson of Wesson requested that he and the other two House conferees be relieved of further service on this panel. House speaker C. B. "Buddy" Newman appointed representative Merideth of Greenville...Devon Dalls of Pontotoc...and Bunky Huggins of Greenwood to try to iron out the matter with the Senate conferees.

Some lawmakers warned that House action may be the fatal blow and possibly might force the governor to call a special session later this year.

The Senate, on Saturday, okayed the compromise version despite reports from some lawmakers that the Governor wanted to see the bill die. Monday, Senate corrections committee chairman Corbet Patridge of Schlater, who was outside the house chamber when the action was taken said "They just don't understand the bill."

By Wednesday, two days before the close of the session, the bill had for all intents and purposes, expired, leaving penitentiary superintendent Jack Reed the only alternative of grappling with the old - and federally unsatisfactory - system.

VETERANS' BENEFITS

In other action, the house also gave overwhelming approval to a Senate-passed bill which would grant additional tax relief to the elderly and totally disabled veterans. An exemption would be given for persons 65 years and older and to veterans on their homesteads...not exceeding $5,000 assessed valuation. Release of the bill to the governor was temporarily delayed by a motion to reconsider.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS

And in other action, a measure which backers said would establish "Fair Dismissal" procedures for public school teachers gained almost final legislative approval Monday. The measure - a revised version of bills passed earlier by both chambers - was okayed by the senate and house. The lawmakers are pushing to wind up their remaining business of the 90-day session before Friday.

The legislation would assure that teachers not offered re-employment have a right to a hearing before local school boards. Proponents say it will also help keep the federal courts from entering school employment disputes. The compromise version does not include a house provision that would have applied the measure only to those teachers with 5 years' or more service in a school system.

MARINE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

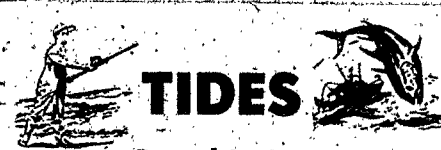

Both chambers gave speedy passage to a bill to revamp the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission. The proposal would increase the commission by four members and each of the coastal counties - Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson - would have three members each. The bill also includes an "open meetings" feature requiring that commission meetings will be open to the public except when it considers employment problems or matters - as the bill puts it - "of a sensitive nature."

CONFERENCE WORK

To date over 90 pieces of legislation have required conference work. A number of conference committees have completed their work and have seen their compromise measures accepted by both houses and transmitted to the Governor.

Among the conference bills adopted by both houses during the last week were the Emergency Medical Services Bill which sets licensing standards for public and private ambulance services in the state, and the enabling act for the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office.

The House and Senate also adopted conference versions of bills setting a 3-day cancellation period for home solicitation credit sales and extending insurance coverage to newborn infants. Thursday both houses adopted the conference reports on the establishment of a Division of Alcoholism and Alcoholic Abuse in the State Board of Health and the extension of sickness insurance benefits to cover the care and treatment of alcoholism.

Charles Johnson wins race for Waveland alderman

Waveland's new alderman from the first ward will be Charles H. Johnson, who defeated his only rival for the board seat, Robert Warner, by a vote of 112-77 last Saturday.

Johnson was immediately sworn in at the city's first regular board meeting of the month Tuesday night by city attorney Lucien Gex, Jr. after Mayor Longo and the city's three aldermen unanimously accepted election results. Johnson, a general contractor, will serve out the remainder of former alderman John Longo's term of office. Longo was elected mayor of Waveland in a special election Feb. 9. The city now has its first full board since the late Mayor Garfield Ladner's death last Dec. 11.

A Waveland native, Johnson is a member of the board of directors of the Pass Christian Isles Golf Club, a member of the St. Stanislaus Sidelines Club, the Waveland Civic Association and Diamondhead Yacht and Country Club. He is a member of St. Clare's Catholic Church.

He is married to the former Gerald Mae Samrow of New Orleans. The Johnsons have two children, Charles H. Johnson Jr., of Metairie, La., and Cathy Ann, a junior at Mississippi State University.

Pass advertises for paving bids

The Pass Christian board of aldermen Tuesday night voted to advertise for street paving bids for eight city streets.

The streets to be paved are Pine, Francis, Josephine, Elliot, Rafferty Drive, Saucier Avenue, Courtenay Avenue and Lang Avenue.

The board also voted to pay $5,125 to the Gulf Paving Company for work already completed on Clark avenue.

In other business the board voted to adopt new plumbing, housing and electrical codes. The codes adopted are: 1973 edition of the Southern Standard Building Code; the 1971 edition (with 1973 revisions) of the Southern Standard Plumbing Code; the 1973 Southern Standard Housing Code; the 1971 National Electrical Code; and the AIA Fire Prevention Code.

Mayor Steve Saucier said adoption of the codes would help the city to maintain eligibility for federal funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The board voted to appoint Warren Alford as city representative to the Mississippi Coast Transportation Authority.

In other business aldermen took under consideration a $3,682 bid for a police car from Bubba Oustalet Ford.

The board voted to advertise for bids for a new city dump truck.

David Johns of Bay St. Louis is one of twenty-four men who have been initiated into the Louisiana Tech chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia fraternity. The university's Mu Nu chapter of the national music fraternity was established in 1964, its goal being to advance the cause of music and develop an awareness of music's importance.

Citizens, trustees meet to air school issues

A group of concerned citizens met with Bay-Waveland public school trustees Wednesday night to present the school board a letter of concern regarding administration of the city's school system. The list of seven questions and four recommendations submitted to the board is reprinted below in its entirety. Details of the meeting were not available by press time, but will be covered in next week's issue.

"Notwithstanding the minimum legal state requirements for an annual audit, we respectfully request an investigative audit of the school finances due to the large investment of federal, state and local tax dollars and the lack of public disclosure of said resources as repeatedly requested by the Mayor of Bay St. Louis.

"In order to allay suspicions of the public as the result of rumors concerning alleged mismanagement of funds, and to restore public confidence in the school system and the school board, we feel the only possible resolution is an immediate investigative audit. To avoid any allegations of undue local influence, it is essential that the audit be conducted by a licensed CPA of national accounting firm, such as Ernst and Ernst, Peat Marwick and Mitchell, Haskins and Sells and Arthur Anderson.

"Other questions of public concern in the area of the administration and policies of the school board are as follows:

"(1). Has the school district published a policy manual setting forth the duties and responsibilities of the board, the superintendent, the Assistant superintendent, principals of attendance centers, teachers and other professional personnel? If not, will one be published for the information of the citizens who support the school district?

"(2). What is your policy regarding parent involvement in the school system? How do you account for the lack of any parent-teacher organization in the junior and senior high schools?

"(3). How many professional staff members or persons filling positions of professional staff members do not possess either Class A Certificates or Class A Permits? What positions do they hold and what is your justification for retaining those personnel without these requirements?

"(4). On the subject of school vehicles, it is understood that the Bay St. Louis school system has at least the following vehicles: One Drivers Training vehicle, and five pick-up trucks.

"(a). Have these vehicles been authorized by the school board for unofficial and personal use?

"(b). Is the school system reimbursed by those using said vehicles for non-official purposes?

"(c). For non-official use, does the school system pay for operating expenses, taxes, gasoline, etc.?

"(d). If any reimbursement is received, what is the dollar value of said reimbursement and into what account is this reimbursement placed?

"(e). Are the vehicles identified as school property according to the state law?

"(f). Do all the Bay St. Louis school system principals have, at this time the required qualifications?

"(g). Why does the school administration not solicit and request financial and operational ideas from the faculty?

"(h). Are the teachers allowed to voice their opinions directly to the school board or have they been cautioned not to do so by the school administrators and superintendent of education?"

WE SOLICIT YOUR OPINIONS ON THE FOLLOWING RECOMMENDATIONS:

"RECOMMENDATION 1: After budget is prepared and approved by school board, a copy shall be furnished to each member of the governing bodies of the cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis for their study.

Within not more than 10 days after mailing of those copies, a joint meeting will be held between members of the governing bodies of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, the School Board, the City Superintendent of Education and the general public.

"RECOMMENDATION 2: Beginning with the school year 1974-1975, the City Superintendent of Education shall furnish a monthly statement of receipts and disbursements to the governing bodies of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"RECOMMENDATION 3: City Superintendent of Education will furnish a monthly schedule of all salaries of Bay-Waveland Municipal School District to governing bodies of Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

"RECOMMENDATION 4: Audit committee to be named to examine all invoices paid by school board, it being understood that such examination will be made at the close of each month.

Audit committee to be composed of the Mayors of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, or a representative designated by them, and a member of a duly constituted citizens group. All criticisms or recommendations by this audit group to be made in writing and a copy furnished to each member of the school board, the City Superintendent of Education, each member of the governing bodies of the cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis and the local newspaper.

Mr. Bruce Ladner was interested in buying a late model car. Since his family had bought from veteran salesman Fritz Peranich and Turan-Lane, his father brought him over to the Bay to talk to Fritz. After looking over the large selection of used cars, Mr. Ladner selected one he liked and Fritz Peranich gave him a very good deal. Board accepts $1.5 Million improvement proposal

Brushing aside a request by chairman Horace Davis to study the proposal more closely, Hancock School Board members Monday decided to accept a $1.5 million proposal for additions at two existing county schools and the construction of a new high school in Pearlington.

Accepting the proposal of Proffer, Teague and Ashton, Architects and Engineers, Gulfport, board members Johnny Banks and Tom Shaw indicated that they felt the board should hurry up and "get the ball rolling." "We've been fooling around with this thing for almost a year," Banks said. "This proposal looks good to me and I move we go ahead and accept it," he said.

School Superintendent K.G. McCarty said that the board would probably petition the Hancock County supervisors next Monday about a bond issue to finance the construction.

The Gulfport firm's proposal of $1,519,000 was $109,000 less than a proposal by architect Fred Wagner several weeks ago, but the board indicated that they would still seek the $1,628,000 figure that Wagner estimated costs to be and use the extra funds to purchase equipment for the schools.

The two architectural proposals differed considerably in specifics, although the two firms were close on their overall cost figures.

The Gulfport firm trimmed cost of a new gymnasium for Hancock North Central School down from Wagner's figure of $330,000 to $186,000 and trimmed another $25,000 off Wagner's estimated cost of $200,000 for a new food service cafeteria at the school. The difference here and a difference of $18,000 at Charles B. Murphy School in Pearlington was used to beef up a bare bones budget that the board had proposed earlier for a new high school building in Gulfview.

The proposal for South Central High School now includes $421,800 for a classroom building, $228,000 for a science and home economic department, $115,200 for dressing rooms and offices, $75,000 for Industrial Arts, and $60,000 for an athletic field house. Another $40,000 is allocated for a sewage disposal plant. The proposal for Charles B. Murphy School at Pearlington includes $72,000 for four new classrooms and $30,000 for two restrooms.

IRS Will Compute Tax For Some Taxpayers

Taxpayers filing Form 1040, with adjusted gross income of $20,000 or less, who take the standard deduction, can have the IRS compute their tax, William Daniel, IRS District Director for Mississippi, said today. This applies to taxpayers whose income is solely from wages, salary, and tips, dividends, interest, pensions, and annuities, he said.

"Those persons choosing to file the short Form 1040A can have the IRS compute the tax regardless of the amount of a adjusted gross income," Mr. Daniel added.

To take advantage of this service, taxpayers need only complete certain portions of the tax return, attach W-2 forms, sign the return, and mail it to the address indicated in the instruction booklet by April 15.

Details on what must be completed on the return are in the instruction booklet for each type of tax return.

Mr. Daniel advised taxpayers with questions to call or visit the nearest IRS office. Toll-free telephone numbers are shown in the tax forms package this year.

Hancock Headstart Center hosts Area I workshop

Over 100 parents participated last week in the first Area I workshop to be held at the Hancock County Headstart Center to learn what they, as parents, can do to help educate their children. The Hancock County Headstart Center is one of eight centers within Area I and is funded by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity under the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Ms. Brenda Jefferson, area social service specialist, said that the workshops were designed to initiate parent involvement in child care.

Attending the workshop from the central office in Jackson were I. H. Montgomery, field operations; Ms. Blanche Young, parent activities and social services director; Ms. Sally Berkeley, information and statistics; Ms. Hazel Coleman, nutrition; and Ms. Barbara Hartwell, education director.

Staff personnel from the Picayune area office included Ms. Mamie Drummond, food specialist; Edward Stubbs, Area I director; Ms. Brenda Jefferson, social services specialist; Minnette Sundlie, area nurse; and Leroy Gayden, educational specialist.

Area and central staff personnel directed interest groups in social services, parent involvement, revenue sharing, education and nutrition, and volunteer services.

Miss Teenager Pageant this weekend in Jackson

An expected 87 teenage girls from throughout the state will meet in Jackson April 6 as contestants in the annual Miss Mississippi Teenager Pageant, to be held at the Heidelberg Hotel.

The pageant is for girls 13-17 years old and judging is based on scholastic achievement, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance with no talent or swimsuit competition involved.

There will be a winner and four runners-up. The winner being sent, expenses paid, to the National Finals in Atlanta, August 26. This age group is one which frequently finds itself somewhat left out of things... too old for many activities and still too young for others. The pageant attempts to give recognition to these girls and to help them grow.

Miss Mississippi Teenager 1973, Miss Connie Moran, of Ocean Springs went on to place in the top 15 finalists in the MISS NATIONAL TEENAGER September 1973, where all fifty states and the District of Columbia were represented by one winner who had won her state-wide competition.

Sharon McLarty was the reigning Miss National Teenager after winning the title of 1972 Miss Mississippi Teenager. She traveled over 100,000 miles, met the President of the United States, the Premier of Nova Scotia, appeared on the Dating Game and spent 17 days in Italy, Spain, France and Africa. She appeared on the Truth or Consequences show and made many trips to California. She is now employed as public relations director for Six Flags over Georgia after finishing the modeling scholarship she won. Sharon is looking forward to working and being with the girls in the pageant, along with Connie and the visiting out-of-state queens.

Television and radio personality Bill Boren will be on hand to emcee the pageant. Miss Edie Blackburn from Florence, Alabama, a cousin of Elvis Presley, will entertain.

Contestants will be checking into the host hotel by 2 p.m., Friday to begin the three-day pageant—with rehearsals, meals together, personal interviews with the judges, and making friendships which will last forever.

The theme of the Miss Mississippi Teenager Pageant is "What's Right About America".

The press and public are invited.

Parents urged to attend meeting

Parents of Waveland Elementary School students are urged to attend the Bay-Waveland Municipal School Dist. board meeting Monday night, said Mrs. Billie Fedesovich, a member of the Waveland Parent-Teachers Organization. Important matters concerning faculty members at Waveland School will be target areas for questioning, Mrs. Fedesovich said.

Local chairmen to coordinate Library Week activity

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitfield of Bay St. Louis are National Library Week chairmen for Hancock County, announced Howard Langfitt of Jackson, 1974 State Citizens' Committee chairman.

As local chairmen, the Whitfields will coordinate area activities for the annual Library Week observance, April 21-27. They met with other local chairmen across the state in January to lay plans for maximum local participation this year.

"We're looking for more enthusiastic community support than ever before," they said. "The more people know about the library, the more they'll use it."

Theme, this year is, "Is there a LIBRARY in your life? You're the LIFE in your library!"

"Libraries have so much to offer, there should be at least one library in everyone's life—public, school, academic or special," explained the local chairman. "And unless we use and actively support our libraries, library service in Mississippi won't continue to grow and develop."

National Library Week is an ideal time to try out a new library service if you're a regular user, Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield pointed out, or renew your friendship with the library if you're a sometime patron. Or strike up a brand new acquaintance if there's no library in your life.

NEEDLECRAFT NEWS

Are you hooked on crocheting? Now you can really create useful, creative items like a smart shoulder bag of tarred twine, a cape that turns into a rug, a flower head cushion, and, for your favorite little lamb, a baby's traveling bag lined with lambskin!

Vibeke Lind of Denmark, an artist with a crochet hook, whose designs are exhibited in Copenhagen's Den Permanente Gallery, has sewn up crocheting in a graphic new book that includes detailed instructions on how to work the basic forms of stitches and explanations of their relationship. Titled Practical Modern Crochet, published by Van Nostrand Reinhold, the volume touches on the variety of textures and the many attractive articles that can be created with a hook and yarn. While all the examples are simple, each calls for a variation or new application of the most common stitches, so both the new face and the old hand can lace into the designs with a wad.

This scallop through the world of crochet is also a very visual look at the craft. It contains nearly 200 line drawings, photographs and illustrations and it's available at bookstores for $4.95 in paperback, $8.95 in hardcover. Write Dept. COLLING'S CORNER

By E.S. Colling

Lately we have heard some extra good music on TV. Last week it was Puccini's very beautiful but seldom played opera, "La Roudine", and a gorgeous ballet to the music of Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" by the New York Ballet Theatre. And, of course, there was Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" the week before that.

And we got to thinking about this curious question: why is there so little appreciation of good music in the average American small town? We haven't any figures to back us up, but we suspect that only a handful of adults, and less than a smattering of teenagers, give a hoot about opera or ballet music, and that a thousand viewers tuned in to "Hee Haw" right here, to one who listened to the programs listed above.

There are lots of possible answers to this, but we are inclined to think that a lack of music appreciation instruction in the schools during the formative years is the real culprit. We notice this especially in group singalongs where, after "Glory Hallelujah", "Bill Bailey", "Bicycle Built for Two" and a few other tinkly tunes, the singalong comes apart at the seams because the singers don't know any worth-while music. We are fond of bragging about the progress of education during the past half century, but that certainly doesn't apply to music, as the difficulties of forming a group for the support of opera and symphony orchestras locally proves.

We often see highschool boys and girls who look as if they badly needed a good mental feeding; their minds have subsisted so long on meat and potatoes that now they automatically accept this fare as the standard for living; they know nothing of the delicious mental fare to be found in books, poetry, art, and especially in music. It is sad to see an upstanding young person, half of whose mind is sound asleep and oblivious to the beauties of life offered in better things than rock and parties. Some will never wake up, but others can be stimulated, and here is where the school can be of the greatest help.

On the north Pacific coast there is a high school which every year produces a superb symphony orchestra of which to be a member is the goal of almost the entire student body. No doubt it was difficult in the beginning to awaken this interest, but it can be done, and right here in our own city the lives of hundreds of young people could be enriched.

AMERICAN SHIPPING INTERESTS

An international fact of life driven home loud and clear during the recent Middle East war:

In times of crises, it's every country for itself. In other words, every nation looks out for its own needs and its own safety first.

That alone — in my mind — is reason enough to seriously question the wisdom of importing most of our foreign oil on foreign-flag ships even though those ships are owned by American oil companies. And questioning that practice is exactly what we have been doing in recent sessions of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

For the past several weeks, those of us on the committee have studied the good and bad points of H.R. 8193, a bill pending in Congress requiring that 20 per cent of the oil imported into the United States be carried in United States-flag vessels.

Those who favor the bill quickly pointed to repercussions from certain actions in the Middle East war. During that war, for example, Liberia issued and enforced a decree forbidding the carriage of arms to our allies on ships registered in Liberia but owned and operated by American interests.

Also, during that same war, our European allies refused to refuel U.S. aircraft and refused to sell oil to American military units overseas.

On the other side of the fence, the oil companies — because they have a vested interest in foreign-flag shipping — quickly lined up in opposition to H.R. 8193. Thus, the battle lines were drawn.

Speaking in support of the bill before the committee in mid-March, one witness got right to the heart of the problem as he saw it.

"After careful scrutiny of the available evidence," he said, "I believe that the price which the consumer pays for the shipping of oil — as opposed to the cost of shipping that oil — will be decreased by the passage of H. R. 8193."

Simply stated, he contends that if the bill is enacted into law, the American consumer will be the beneficiary. In fact, according to the same witness, Americans will reap a benefit of 36 cents to 59 cents on each barrel of oil which is imported on a U.S.-flag ship rather than a foreign-flag ship.

Translated into gas station figures, that could save you about one cent per gallon.

In all fairness, it should be noted that those figures were contradicted by opponents of the bill. Still, however, the figures are interesting.

Getting even closer to home, H. R. 8193 will eventually mean thousands of jobs for American workers by 1975 in shipbuilding, ship repair and support industries. One source cites a projection of 31,000 new jobs by 1985.

After all, if American-flag ships are used for importing oil, those ships will be built at American shipyards.

And we've got American shipyards in Mississippi.

The arguments are endless on both sides of the issue, of course, but I think the good in H. R. 8193 outweighs the bad and I intend to follow its developments very closely.

Home Makers Notes

By Norine Barnes

Hancock County Home Economist

THEY'RE OUT TO SELL YOU

Many people feel the need to earn extra money, yet because of age, small children or home responsibilities they cannot work outside the home. Ads in the papers and magazines seem made to order: "Make Big Profits, Address Envelopes!" "Be Independent Through Home Industry."

The fact is, many victims of work-at-home schemes end up spending money rather than making it. An investment of $3 or $10 brings them a list of companies that might use their services, or a simple set of do-it-yourself instructions for "instant" bit money. The "guaranteed market" promised in the ad never materializes.

Be suspicious of any ad that requires you to buy something in order to qualify.

NON STICK COATINGS

Among the many miracles in the modern kitchen are the cookware and electrical cooking appliances with non-stick interior coatings. Non-stick surfaces aid the new easy-care concept in cooking and eliminate scraping, scrubbing, soaking and scouring to remove sticky and burned on foods.

Today there are two types of non-stick coatings available, one of which is tougher than the other. Generally, the newer cookware and electrical appliances have the heavy-duty interior finish which is more scratch and abrasion resistant. Smooth-edge metal spoons and spatulas may be used safely, if they are not dug into the finish. However, knives, forks, rotary beaters and food choppers should be avoided as the finish could be scratched. Minor scratching affects only the appearance, however, and not the non-stick quality of the finish.

Cookware and appliances with the regular finish, as opposed to the heavy-duty, non-stick finish, should be used only with plastic, rubber or wooden utensils. Before buying, read the labels and hangtags which describe the product. Then follow these use and care recommendations for years of carefree cooking service.

Before using for the first time, wash the unit in hot soaps with a sponge or dishcloth to remove any manufacturing oils. Rinse in hot water and dry.

"Condition" the cooking surface to insure stick-free cooking by lightly applying a little cooking oil to the finish with paper toweling or a soft cloth. This treatment is especially important for skillets and griddles and should be repeated from time to time.

"We find time for you important Bills."

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this means to WAKE UP the people of Hancock County concerning the doctor situation here. I have been served by only one of our few doctors here, Dr. John B. Levens. Perhaps the people don't realize what a good physician he really is. I find him to be very conscientious about his patients and our family has depended on him greatly in the past few months to diagnose our illnesses with speed and accuracy and send us to the specialist we needed to save our lives.

As I have spoken with the best doctors in New Orleans and what I consider to be some of the best specialists in their field, they have each assured me that Dr. Levens is an excellent doctor and they respect his opinions greatly. Believe me, mine and my mother's lives have been at stake and in the hands of Dr. Levens to give a fast and accurate diagnosis and get us to the proper specialist. Each time he has been "right on target" with the best of doctors.

I want to express my sincere appreciation to him for his tireless efforts to heal us in whatever our ills may be. Please, people of Hancock County, don't you express to him or to the doctor you use, your appreciation for their efforts? If not, perhaps one day you will wake up and find yourselves with no doctors and no hospital and a few miles to travel can mean being a few minutes too late.

I'm sure the doctors get very discouraged at times and when offered other positions feel that the people here do not appreciate their help and therefore off they go to accept other positions which they really do not feel is their calling in life. They have families to think about providing for and sometimes they feel that if not appreciated, they must go on to other endeavors.

We must understand that with such a few doctors here they have more to do than they possibly are able to handle. I am sure other doctors are being sought for Hancock County, which are tremendously needed to lighten the load on our few remaining doctors.

Sometimes we are tempted to think that our doctors are in such a hurry that they don't want to be bothered with us. This is not true. It must be a great burden to be responsible for thousands of lives and we must let them know how desperately we need their services here.

Please understand that I am sure the other doctors here are just as qualified as Dr. Levens, but we have had experience with only him.

Let me close in saying to Dr. Levens, on behalf of my family, "Thank you and we do appreciate you and need you". And, please, people of Hancock County, help me in this endeavor that we don't lose the only medical help we have, and don't wait until you get sick to express your appreciation.

Dear Friends,

My thanks to each of you for the wonderful treatment accorded me during my recent stay in the hospital — highly professional but with compassion.

I have been a patient in your hospital twice previously and my wife and several of my children have also been your patients. It is obvious to all of us that you have succeeded in personalizing your individual professions.

Dear Sir:

A news clipping has just been presented to me, concerning the gifts at Easter time, of very young chicks, rabbits and ducks and other animals, given to young children; some of these animal gifts are artificially dyed in attractive colors, to make a sale, without regard to the future welfare of the animals or birds.

Usually the artificially-colored animals do not live long, some times they die before the color wears off.

In many cities it is illegal to sell these animals. We would like to be informed of any acts of cruelty, as a result of these sales. All we wish to do is to inform the public.

Even the children may love little Easter chicks and bunnies, they do not realize when they squeeze them lovingly, they are actually hurting them.

Parents should be more watchful when gifts of this sort are given to their children who are too young to know how to handle or care for them.

Thanking you kindly for printing this information.

Bay High students sweep the field

The foreign language department of Bay Senior High, in its continuous effort to teach the culture of the countries involved as well as their grammar and vocabulary, last week held its annual display of models and research projects made by the students.

In the Latin division, a full-sized catapult which hurled its projectile more than 350 feet was built by Maurice Raynaud and Henry Wilkinson, a Roman house by Karen Geroux and David Johnson, a temple of Jupiter by Larry Smith, an aqueduct by Tommy Largay, and a Roman millstone by Ronald Magee.

A display of Latin phrases frequently used in English-speaking countries was made by Ann Thornburg and Patricia Robinson and accompanied by a tape recording. Copies of mosaics found at Pompeii were made by Mary Kay Benvenuti and Penny Schilling, and displays showing Roman costumes were done by Mary Ann Schindler, Vickie Ramsey, Mary Jo Mills, and Linnea Scritchling, the latter also showing a model of a chariot.

Cathy Barkley and Laurie Lynch exhibited a plywood map showing the Roman Empire at its largest extent. Randall Tartavouille's display told the story of the founding of Rome. Madeleine Sellers and Connie Hayward displayed a genealogy of the Roman gods and a model of a temple of Diana, and Candy Ladner showed wax tablets such as used by Roman schoolboys. Roman architectural forms used throughout the world were shown in a research display by Cheryl Goetz and Emily Mollere. Sherry McGinty's poster declared "Latin is Alive and Well!", and Hank Fleischmann's map showed the area of the world under Roman dominion.

In the French division projects included a 10-foot-long model of the Champs-Elysees made by David Landon and working models of a guillotine made by Thomas Hoda, Andy Ramsey, Prima Luke, and Joy Thomas. Kim Steffel and Barbara Bostick created a French boutique complete with handmade garments and wall-to-wall carpeting. Kathy Webre and Julia Langley submitted oil paintings of French scenes, and Alice Zengarlind displayed pastel copies of paintings by three French artists. Models of stained glass windows were made by Cindy Steffel and Donna Ralph, and a typical Alsatian house in winter by Lloyd Shubert. Research projects included a display showing the wine regions of France by Gerri Koch and a map by Keith Folse indicating the areas of the world where French is spoken. Richard Fillingame created a village square during the French Revolution. Niles Blatz built a model of a modern reservoir. Steve Wheat made a scale model of a famous chateau, and Lee Paul decoupaged a French painting. A Parisian cafe, complete with quiche Lorraine served to the judges, was the work of Susan Carlson and Michele Vicknair. Kathleen Schindler and Lucinda Kidd created a diorama of the Place de la Concorde in Paris. Terri Lagasse decoupaged three paintings by French artists, and Pam Dedaux displayed the fleur-de-lis emblem of French royalty. Geometrically designed flowerbeds of French formal gardens were made by Susan Cook, Diane Adams, Barbara Barkley, and Laurie Lynch, a thatched cottage by Arnold Fairconnette, and a pencil sketch of an Utrillo painting by Mitch Nichols.

Bay High students swept the field with first place wins at the Foreign Language Fair contest held at the University of Southern Mississippi Friday. Top project winners are, from left, Debbie Netto, Spanish; Henry Wilkinson and Maurice Raynaud, Latin; and Kim Steffel and Barbara Bostick, French. The USM Foreign Language Department hosted the event which was planned and sponsored by the Secondary School Section of the Mississippi Modern Language Association.

the following were among the best in construction: The Alcazar, a castle in Segovia by Judith Greer; bridge of the Visigoths, Mike Fricke; a six-pound field piece of the Spanish-American War, Joe Tenny; the Floating Gardens, Tim Farve and Peter Scianna; a replica of the head of Cortez, Eileen Wilcox; a village of the landless poor, Debbie Stoufflet; a pinata, Liz Bozley; layout of a Hacienda, Debbie Netto and Donna Sick.

village of the landless poor, Debbie Stoufflet; a pinata, Liz Bozley; layout of a Hacienda, Debbie Netto and Donna Sick. The second category emphasized the aesthetic and cultural value. Among the best were a painting of a toreador on black velvet, Trina Sumrall; 2 hand-painted toreadors, Catherine Lizana; a painting of the National bird of Mexico, the quetzal, Kim Sumrall; a scrapbook of Spanish architecture, landscape, and dress, Warren Sick; of poster depicting the culture of Spain, Joe Martinez.

Pearl Christopher displayed Mexican-Indian handmade jewelry. The mountings are hand-wrought silver in the squash blossom design; the stones are unpolished turquoise.

Butch Burton displayed handmade Mexican accessories; handbags; shoes; and chain belts. Ray Thornburg displayed a fabulous Spanish Coin Collection.

Mall exhibit winners

Six of the ten trophies awarded at the Gulf Coast Regional Foreign Language Fair held March 21-23 at the Edgewater Mall went to students from Bay Senior High, including the special award for the best-of-show project.

More than a hundred projects were displayed by students from high schools along the Coast and from as far away as Pascagoula and Hattiesburg. Bay Senior High brought home all three French trophies, two Latin trophies, and the grand prize.

The best-of-show award went to Bay High seniors Maurice Raynaud and Henry Wilkinson for their full-sized working model of a Roman catapult, which was demonstrated on campus to hurl its projectile more than 300 feet.

First place in the French category went to Barbara Bostick and Kim Steffel, Bay High sophomores, for their model of a Paris boutique completely decorated and furnished with handmade articles.

Second place in French was won by Richard Fillingame, a Bay High sophomore, for a model of a town square with a guillotine during the French Revolution. His project included a research paper on the revolution.

Third place in French went to Bay High sophomore David

Landon for his ten-foot-long model showing the Champs-Elysees in Paris.

In the Latin division, Debbie Shaffer from Long Beach High School won first place with a display of farm tools such as those used by the ancient Romans. Second place went to Bay High sophomore Larry Smith for his model of a temple of Jupiter. Third place was won by Bay High senior Ronald Magee for his cement model of an ancient Roman millstone used for grinding corn.

Spanish division awards went to Ferrill Allman and Regina Lighting of Gulfport East High School, first place for their bust of Simon Bolivar; second place to Hal Yarbrough of Pascagoula Senior High for his display entitled "Espana"; and third place to Gulfport High students Becky Fox, Sheila Ladner, Paulette Paul, Gail Maston, and Cathy Finley for their display of a Spanish plaza with ceramics.

State competition

Bay High School students swept the field by garnering the eight top awards in a statewide Foreign Language Fair March 29, hosted by the University of Southern Mississippi.

A group of 57 students and two teachers travelled to Hattiesburg for the event which culminated past weeks' language fair exhibits and contests on local schools' levels.

Highlight of the day-long events at USM was an exhibit of projects reflecting the history and culture of the countries being studied. Schools throughout Mississippi from as far north as Tupelo entered the contest, which was judged by language professors on the faculty of the university.

In the fields of French, Latin, and Spanish Bay Senior High students walked away with the honors, winning all three places in French, first and second places in Latin, and first place in Spanish.

Top award in French went to Barbara Bostick and Kim Steffel for a model of a Parisian boutique. Second place was awarded to Richard Fillingame for his model of a public square in France during the French Revolution. Third place was captured by David Landon, whose model represented a walking tour of Paris from the Arch of Triumph to the Louvre Museum.

In the Latin category, Maurice Raynaud and Henry Wilkinson won first place for their full-sized, working model of a Roman catapult, which will now be entered in a national catapult competition. Larry Smith received second place for his detailed replica of a temple of Jupiter in Rome.

In Spanish the first place trophy went to Debbie Netto for her model of a Mexican hacienda and adobe house.

More than 600 Mississippi high school students participated in the annual language fair, which also included a banquet, election of officers and the presentation of skits in German, French, and Spanish.

 Luke 23:50, 55-56 & Luke 24:1-9
 From The Living Bible

Then a man named Joseph, a member of the Jewish Supreme Court, from the city of Arimathea in Judea, went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. As the body was taken away, the women from Galilee followed and saw it carried into the tomb. Then they went home and prepared spices and ointments to embalm him; but by the time they were finished it was the Sabbath, so they rested all that day as required by the Jewish law. But very early on Sunday morning they took the ointments to the tomb - and found that the huge stone covering the entrance had been rolled aside. So they went in - but the Lord Jesus' body was gone. They stood there puzzled, trying to think what could have happened to it. Suddenly two men appeared before them, clothed in shining robes so bright their eyes were dazzled. The women were terrified and bowed low before them. Then the men asked, "Why are you looking in a tomb for someone who is alive? He isn't here! He has come back to life again! Don't you remember what he told you back in Galilee - that the Messiah must be betrayed into the power of evil men and be crucified and that he would rise again the third day?" Then they remembered, and rushed back to Jerusalem to tell his eleven disciples - and everyone else - what had happened.

GOOD FRIDAY - THE CRUCIFIXION
 John 19:16-21 & Mark 15:33-39
 From The Living Bible

Then Pilate gave Jesus to them to be crucified. So they had him at last, and he was taken out of the city, carrying his cross to the place known as "The Skull," in Hebrew, "Golgotha." There they crucified him and two others with him, one on either side, with Jesus between them. And Pilate posted a sign over him reading, "Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews." The place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and the signboard was written in Hebrew, Latin, and Greek, so that many people read it. Then the chief priests said to Pilate, "Change it from 'The King of the Jews' to 'HE SAID, I am King of the Jews.'" About noon, darkness fell across the entire land, lasting until three o'clock that afternoon. Then Jesus called out with a loud voice, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?" ("My God, my God, why have you deserted me?") Some of the people standing there thought he was calling for the prophet Elijah. So one man ran and got a sponge and filled it with sour wine and held it up to him on a stick. "Let's see in Elijah will come and take him down!" he said. Then Jesus uttered another loud cry, and dismissed his spirit. And the curtain in the Temple was split apart from top to bottom. When the Roman officer standing beside his cross saw how he dismissed his spirit, he exclaimed, "Truly, this was the Son of God!"

Reflections of the past

THE YEAR is 1917, the place is beach Blvd. and Main St. in Bay St. Louis and the occasion, a parade heralding the formation of the first chapter of American Red Cross volunteers in Hancock county. The country was in the first throes of World War I and everybody was doing something for the war effort. All the various groups participating in Red Cross activity are represented in the parade - women, children and a group of Nuns. Miss Elsa Maufrey, who contributed the picture, is second in line behind the lady holding the banner. Midway back in the parade Mrs. Lizzie Boudin, grandmother of Bay Police Chief William Carbonette, carries the Pine Grove Church banner. (Readers are urged to submit photos for use in Reflections. Massive search ends for LB youths

The body of the last of the four missing Long Beach youths was found Friday morning in the Louisiana marshes at West Door Point, ending one of the largest local search operations ever.

The body of Gary Hagin was found by Harrison county Sheriff Leroy Hobbs and Bob Stafford of the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Commission while the two men were searching for Hagin in the commission's helicopter.

The body of Jeffery Steagall was found Thursday near Cat

Island and the bodies of Michael Brown and John Maxwell in the surf by Ship Island Wednesday afternoon. The four boys had disappeared March 19 while on a fishing trip in a 14-foot bass boat.

The search operations, which began March 22, involved hundreds of volunteers and boats, two helicopters and several volunteer private aircraft.

Working in the week-long search were the Harrison

County Civil Defense, the Open Gulf Watch, the Harrison County Sheriff's department, the Marine Conservation Commission, the Mississippi Water Boat and Safety Commission, the National Park Service, county road patrol, Biloxi Civil Defense, the Civil Air Patrol, Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Commission, and the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

THE EMERGENCY RELIEF FUND - A UNITED FUND AGENCY - HAS BEEN A REQUESTED IN NEED OF THOUSANDS OF LOCAL PERSONS AND TRANSIENTS.

One of the big problems with cocaine is that it is so powerful that an overdose will stop the heart and no doctor can get to the patient soon enough to save his life. Also, the fact that there is no tolerance means that an overdose is very likely in this day of poor quality drugs which are cut (mixed with other substances) by every hand through which they pass. If one were to get a relatively pure hit (dose) of coke rather than the usual low percentage, he would overdose. The overdose potential is ominously great with coke, and death is the obvious conclusion.

We knew it was coming, but it got here sooner than we expected. The warnings have not been enough, and now may be too late to warn some. The forecast for summer is "snow". Be prepared!

Drugs and your health

by John F. Russell, M.D.

We thought it was a yellow bird, but it was a snow bird! About two weeks ago a student took a yellow capsule to the Drug Education Specialist at the school because the "friend" who gave it to her said, "Try it; you'll like it", but she didn't know what it was and was smart enough not to take any chances.

It looked innocuous enough, just like a yellow jacket (yellow bird, Nembutal, barbiturate, sleeping pill) except that there were no pharmaceutical markings. Drug companies have a habit of identifying their capsules and pills with some sort of initials or emblem. Pushers and dealers in clandestine laboratories do not wish to advertise their "firm"; thus, an unmarked tablet or capsule is immediately suspect. So, we analyzed it and to our dismay, it turned up "snow".

Then the Governor's Office on Education and Training announced that a survey in the state had shown there to be a "surprisingly" high number of cocaine users among the 26,460 regular users of illicit drugs in the state. We knew it was coming, but it came sooner than expected.

Last November in Miami, the directors of drug abuse programs were told by the Drug Enforcement Administration that the Families in Control of cocaine had selected the southern states as the prime target area for distribution of cocaine.

Cocaine is grown in South America, so the southern states are very conveniently close. After branching out from Florida to adjoining states, they would then continue to spread like an oil slick, outward to other states as the closer ones became saturated. The Gulf Coast is less than one hundred miles from Florida, so we knew it was coming.

We knew, too, that once it arrived it would spread quickly throughout the drug culture. It would grab hold and multiply viciously like a malignancy. We know that the word will spread that snow (cocaine) is not physically addicting and that it has no tolerance and that is true. The body will not crave it nor go through withdrawal when it is stopped. The user will get the same effect from the same amount over and over without increasing the amount.

But what won't be mentioned is that cocaine is the MOST psychologically addicting of all drugs, and the demands of the mind are far more difficult to resist than any demands of the body. The mind-craving for cocaine is so powerful that the cocaine "addict" is completely enslaved, far more so than even the heroin addict. There was a coke-head (habitual cocaine user) that I knew in New York who shot up (injected) cocaine every ten minutes. It is a very short-acting drug and quickly wears off, but it is extremely powerful. It is known as the "superman" drug as it makes the user feel strong and powerful, capable of anything. But a strong depression sets in as the drug wears off and the let-down occurs. The user has lost his great dreamed of potency, and returned to reality of being just another common, everyday human being. The drive is there to return to the drugged feelings of omnipotence, and thus the intense psychological craving for cocaine.

But a strong depression sets in as the drug wears off and the let-down occurs. The user has lost his great dreamed of potency, and returned to reality of being just another being. The drive is there to return to the drugged feelings of omnipotence, and thus the intense psychological craving for cocaine.

One of the big problems with cocaine is that it is so powerful that an overdose will stop the heart and no doctor can get to the patient soon enough to save his life. Also, the fact that there is no tolerance means that an overdose is very likely in this day of poor quality drugs which are cut (mixed with other substances) by every hand through which they pass. If one were to get a relatively pure hit (dose) of coke rather than the usual low percentage, he would overdose. The overdose potential is ominously great with coke, and death is the obvious conclusion.

We knew it was coming, but it got here sooner than we expected. The warnings have been there for some time, but may be too late to warn some. The forecast for summer is "snow". Be prepared!

In The Pass

BY LORRAINE BOWES
452-2548

The Hickory street home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Howard was the happy scene Saturday night of a joint birthday party. The honorees were Mrs. Patsy Andersen, George Mixon and Johnny Steube, all of whom celebrated their birthdays a few days apart. A hilarious time was had when novelty presents among others were presented to the lady and two gentlemen. We were told that the culinary efforts of Mrs. Howard left absolutely nothing to be desired and many of her recipes are being handed around from friend to friend.

Sorry to hear that Mary Hester and Frank Skymanski have deserted us for a while to live in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Edwards of McComb were visitors to the coast last week. They were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Edwards of Bay St. Louis and took time-out from sight-seeing to visit their niece, Mrs. Harry Bowes.

Lorraine Bowes is presently visiting in Collinsville, Illinois with classmate, Susan Burroughs and family. They were in Omaha, Nebraska last weekend and were caught in a blizzard. Never having been in one before, Lorraine reports it was a lot of fun!

Everyone is very sorry to hear that Leroy Lizana, superintendent of the Pass schools, is a patient in Memorial Hospital at Gulfport. We hope to hear that he has recovered very soon.

Please remember the city wide bargain sale in the Pass set for April 4, 5, and 6. Sponsored by the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce, it is designed to stimulate sales for the participating businesses and provide support for local merchants. Besides getting bargains, which everyone loves to find, tickets will accompany each purchase for drawings for a four-day trip for two to Disneyworld, Fla. and a $100 savings bond. For what more could you ask?

A happy birthday it was last Thursday, March 28 for Jackie Gex, who dined out with husband, Hartwell and children to celebrate the occasion.

Captain and Mrs. Arthur Bennett of Tampa, Florida were guests last week in the Pass-Christian Isles home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Castelin. Also, the Castelin's eldest daughter, Bobbi Ann, was home for spring vacation from the University of the South.

Returning to visit friends in the Pass Christian area, after too long an absence was Mrs. Jane Wheeler of Semmes, Alabama, formerly of Henderson Point. She was a houseguest of Mrs. J. F. Epperson and family. Mrs. Wheeler was in town to attend the wedding of Carolyn Thomas, granddaughter of her friend, Mrs. A. W. Cook of Pineville.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Kohl had her parents from Birmingham, Alabama as weekend guests. Speaking of the Kohls, Steve brought home the honors for the Pass from the South Mississippi Motocross Track near Poycune. He placed first in the 250 amateur class and second in the senior class. Not bad for an expectant father.

A great success was the annual seafood dinner staged by the St. Stanislaus Sideline Club last Friday night at the school. The seafood was delicious and the company entertaining. It looked like most of the Bay was there and half of the Pass. The Sideliners certainly deserve raves for the hard work they put in to make the dinner a real fund raising affair.

Clermont Harbor cook is finalist in contest

It is widely held that the more you enjoy doing something the better you do it and that apparently holds true in the case of Miss Mercedes Spahr, a Clermont Harbor resident whose favorite hobby is gourmet cooking.

When she isn't busy in her beauty salon, Mercedes is usually in the kitchen of her home on Forrest St. creating new dishes for her family and friends.

And her culinary efforts have paid off. Miss Spahr was notified last week that she was one of 26 finalists in the Times-Picayune Cook Book contest, which she entered in February. Her recipe for chicken champagne brought her to St. Mary's Dominican College in New Orleans March 25 where she and the other finalists cooked their specialties for the panel of three judges. According to Ernest Posey, assistant advertising director for the Times-Picayune, there were more than 1,000 recipes entered in the contest, some from as far away as New York and Houston and about as wide a variety of recipes as one could imagine.

In New Orleans for the final "cook off", Mercedes said her initial nervousness was soon dispelled by the friendliness of the contest officials and other contestants. All of the dishes cooked, she said, were "delicious, delectable and fattening!"

Chocolate covered fresh strawberries brought a first prize to Lewis C. Vinson of New Orleans and Mrs. Charles J. Lincoln, Metairie, was awarded second place for her cauliflower soup puree.

Mercedes' recipe for chicken champagne, which she created, is published below for the benefit of Echo readers and will be reprinted in the April 14 edition of the Times-Picayune along with 299 other recipes submitted in the contest. Mercedes is the only Gulf Coast entrant to be judged a finalist in the contest.

The young blonde hair stylist comes by her culinary skills naturally. Her mother and grandmother were excellent cooks and her grandfather, Victor Cleutat, had his own vineyard in France and as an amateur chef of some note, is reputed to have started the family proclivity for wine cookery.

Four generations later Mercedes is carrying on the family tradition and receiving accolade for it. What kind of champagne with the chicken? French, of course.

CHICKEN CHAMPAGNE
3 frying chickens (remove wings)
2½ cups Champagne
1 bunch of parsley (chopped coarsely)
2 cloves garlic
1 Bay leaf
1 pinch Thyme
Salt & pepper to taste
4 tablespoons hot mustard
2 eggs

2 tablespoons oil
3 cups bread crumbs
1 cup melted butter
1½ Qts. Crisco oil
Put chickens in pot with champagne, parsley, garlic, bay leaf, thyme, salt and pepper. Simmer in covered pot for 30 minutes. DO NOT OVERCOOK. Let cool, then halve the chickens. Spread each half with hot mustard. In a small bowl beat eggs with 2 tablespoons oil and salt and pepper. Brush egg mixture on chicken. Dip them into bread crumbs, then dip in melted butter and dip again in bread crumbs.

In a skillet fry chicken in hot deep fat (360 degrees F.) until golden brown. Serves 6.

NEWS OF HEALTH

"MIRACLE" MEDICINE: TLC
Tender Loving Care, as most medical professionals have long known (though many other people don't) can be a very vital factor in a patient's health.

Dr. George Jacobson, attending psychiatrist at Jackson Memorial Hospital is "crazy" about it. "Sick people respond to tender loving care. That's an important incentive to get better."

Doctors and nurses have noticed that a kind and reassuring word from them can make a patient take a turn for the better. Visits, cards and gifts from friends and relatives can help too. They may even prevent a patient from brooding about his illness and take his mind off his aches and pains as well as strengthening his morale.

Many hospital staffs recommend that the sick be showered with flowers. That's the kind of gift that can perk up a patient when it arrives, and remains as a growing reminder of thoughtfulness and affection that he can see.

Dr. Jacobson says: "Symbolically, flowers express love... mean that someone cares. Green plants have a similar meaning. A plant is alive and growing, which encourages many patients to identify with the living plant and with life, thus speeding their recovery."

Bigger by the dozen

Although Dec Elliott says in this week's column that salt water fishing is slow, it wasn't so for this group of fishermen last weekend. Fishing from the Po Boy off Chandler Island the anglers caught five flounders, 14 red fish and about 30 trout, all over four pounds. That big flounder at extreme left, took five of the six men on the boat, to land. (That's John Bufkin's fish story for the week!) Shown with their catch are, from left, Bob Hannah, Bob Gowdy, Charlie McClendon and Bufkin.

Saint's Manning to assist sports camp at Ole Miss

UNIVERSITY, Miss., — Archie Manning, Rebel All-American quarterback from 1968-70 and recently acclaimed the most accurate passer in the National Football League, will once again serve on the instructional staff in football at the Ole Miss Sports Camp this summer.

The announcement of the inclusion of Manning, starting quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, was made Saturday by head football coach Ken Cooper, who serves as Director of the Sports Camp.

Featuring specialized instruction for boys age 10-16, clinic dates for football, baseball, golf and tennis camps are June 1-7 and June 8-14.

The basketball camp dates are June 15-21 for girls and June 22-28 for boys.

Manning, a native of Drew, will be appearing for the third consecutive year at the Rebel camps. His spectacular career began with All-Conference honors as a high school senior in 1966, then to All-SEC and All-American fame at Ole Miss and he now ranks as one of the premier signal callers in the NFL.

In the All-Pro Football Olympia staged in Miami's Orange Bowl, Manning bested Jim Plunkett, Bob Greise, Ken Stabler, Terry Bradshaw, Dan Pastorini and others to win the passing accuracy championship. He also finished fourth in distance, passing with a heave of 66 yards.

Manning, who accounted for a school-record 56 touchdowns during his three years as the Reb quarterbacking ace, has been the starting quarterback for the Saints since he joined the club in 1971.

His three year professional total are impressive. He has completed 51 percent of his passes, 456-892 for 5,587 yards with 34 touchdowns by air. On the ground, he is one of the Saints' leading rushers, averaging over 5.0 yards a carry with eight running TD's. Co-captain of the 1970 Rebel team, Manning will be featured during both sessions of the Rebel camps.

Applicants should write for further information to University Extension, University, Miss., 38677.

'Bama Bullies Rebels

UNIVERSITY, MISS. — The Ole Miss baseball team saw its first place tie with Alabama in the SEC-Western Division disappear into thin air over the weekend after dropping three straight games to the Powerhouse Tide team.

The Rebels dropped a pair of seven-inning games Friday at University Park, 6-3 and 7-6, before coming back Saturday for a 12-0 shellacking. The Tide which moved into sole possession of first place in the Western Division, is now 24-7 overall and 5-1 in the conference. The losses dropped the Ole Miss record to 2-4 (SEC) and 8-8 overall.

Before the weekend games Ole Miss coach Jake Gibbs conceded that the winner of the series would certainly be in the driver's seat.

"Still," he said, "there will be 12 games remaining after this weekend and anything could change."

The Tide cornered five of six decisions with the Rebs last spring.

The Rebs will meet Mississippi State in a triple-header April 5-6 in their next conference matching.

Bigger by the dozen

Although Dee Elliott says in this week's column that salt water fishing is slow, it wasn't so for this group of fishermen last weekend. Fishing from the Po Boy off Chandelier Island the anglers caught five flounders, 14 red fish and about 30 trout, all over four pounds. That big flounder at extreme left, took five of the six men on the boat, to land. (That's John Bufkin's fish story for the week!) Shown with their catch are, from left, Bob Hannah, Bob Gowdy, Charlie McClendon and Bufkin.

Saint's Manning to assist sports camp at Ole Miss

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Archie Manning, Rebel All-American quarterback from 1968-70 and recently acclaimed the most accurate passer in the National Football League, will once again serve on the instructional staff in football at the Ole Miss Sports Camp this summer.

The announcement of the inclusion of Manning, starting quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, was made Saturday by head football coach Ken Cooper, who serves as Director of the Sports Camp.

Featuring specialized instruction for boys age 10-16, clinic dates for football, baseball, golf and tennis camps are June 1-7 and June 8-14.

The basketball camp dates are June 15-21 for girls and June 22-28 for boys.

Manning, a native of Drew, will be appearing for the third consecutive year at the Rebel camps. His spectacular career began with All-Conference honors as a high school senior in 1966, then to All-SEC and All-American fame at Ole Miss and he now ranks as one of the premier signal callers in the NFL.

In the All-Pro Football Olympia staged in Miami's Orange Bowl, Manning bested Jim Plunkett, Bob Greise, Ken Stabler, Terry Bradshaw, Dan Pastorini and others to win the passing accuracy championship. He also finished fourth in distance passing with a heave of 66 yards.

Manning, who accounted for a school-record 56 touchdowns during his three years as the Reb quarterback, has been the starting quarterback for the Saints since he joined the club in 1971.

His three year professional total are impressive. He has completed 51 percent of his passes, 456-492 for 5,587 yards with 34 touchdowns by air. On the ground, he is one of the Saints' leading rushers, averaging over 5.0 yards a carry with eight running TD's. Co-captain of the 1970 Rebel team, Manning will be featured during both sessions of the Rebel camps.

Applicants should write for further information to University Extension, University, Miss., 38677.

'Bama Bullies Rebels

UNIVERSITY, MISS. — The Ole Miss baseball team saw its first-place tie with Alabama in the SEC Western Division disappear into thin air over the weekend after dropping three straight games to the Powerhouse Tide team.

The Rebels dropped a pair of seven-inning games Friday at University Park, 6-3 and 7-6, before coming back Saturday for a 12-0 shellacking. The Tide which moved into sole possession of first place in the Western Division, is now 24-7 overall and 5-1 in the conference. The losses dropped the Ole Miss record to 2-4 (SEC) and 8-3 overall.

Before the weekend games Ole Miss coach Jake Gibbs conceded that the winner of the series would certainly be in the driver's seat.

"Still," he said, "there will be 12 games remaining after this weekend and anything could change."

The Tide cornered five of six decisions with the Rebs last spring.

The Rebs will meet Mississippi State in a triple-header April 5-6 in their next conference matching.

B. L. Thomas Heads 964 Winn-Dixies

He's a tall man with a shy smile. He stands straight and looks you straight in the eye. His job: Head of 964 Winn-Dixie supermarkets scattered throughout the Southeast.

Bert Thomas's elevation to the presidency of Winn-Dixie in 1965 was unanimously requested by the four Davis Brothers, A. D., J. E., M. Austin, and Tine W., whose father founded the company 49 years ago.

THOMAS, 53, a native of the Western mountains, is 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 205 pounds, and looks more like a football coach recently graduated from pro league play than a business executive. But he is a decision maker whose analytical approach to business matters has moved him swiftly through the ranks.

He joined the W-D headquarters at Jacksonville in 1946 and soon was in charge of service operations and manufacturing. In 1952, he was named vice president of the company, and two years later, when the executive committee was formed, he was appointed to the group, a post he has held continuously since that time. He was elected a director in 1965 and named President that same year on October 1.

Thomas was graduated from Malad High School and from Utah State University in 1939 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. When the U.S. entered World War II, he was called into the Army with an ROTC Second Lieutenant's commission, being discharged in 1946 as a Major.

Produce? Select From Many Items

Today's Winn-Dixie customer can select fresh produce from a display of some 50 to 100 different items. And she can always depend on their being the finest quality at lowest possible prices.

Winn-Dixie has produce buying offices strategically located in the principal agricultural areas. These field units deal directly with the farmer and shipper in buying his produce. The price the farmer gets for his crops is governed by the economic conditions prevailing around the country on the day and the hour the sale is made.

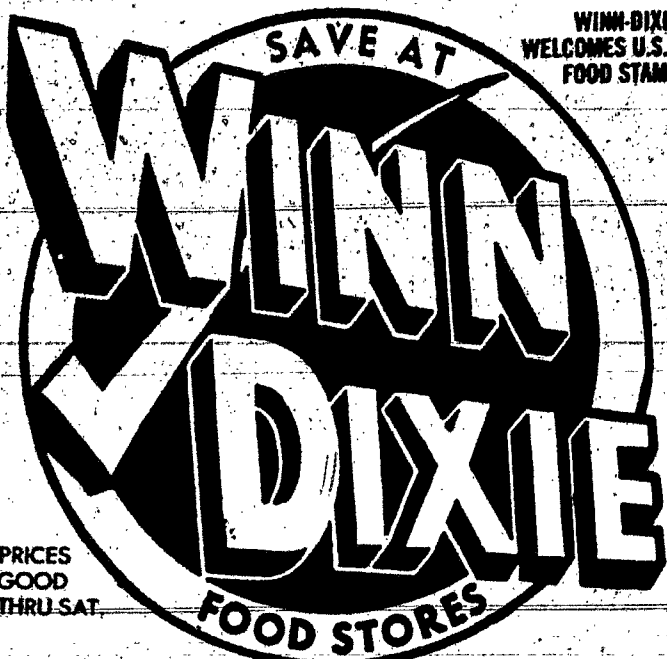

THE BUYER knows the going price for the produce he wants, and the farmer knows what his goods will bring before he sells them. When he sells, the transaction is completed right there.

In the rich muck lands around Lake Okechobee — now the world's largest winter vegetable center — you can see celery and corn graded and packed right in the fields, and carrots processed with a mobile topper. You can see 200,000 pounds of green beans processed the same day they are picked by 3,000 workers. In the winter over 26 varieties of muck land vegetables, including escarole, endive, lettuce and kale, are within 24 to 72 hours of fresh vegetable markets in Winn-Dixie's ten divisions.

In central Florida there are fields of luxuriant vegetables and fruits which, in variety, color and taste, could stock an Emperor's horn of plenty. The major crops in this rapidly growing farm land are tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers, squash, sweet corn, watermelons, strawberries, citrus and numerous other items.

There is also a buyer during the summer months in Fresno, Calif., who buys the bulk of Winn-Dixie's grapes, plums and nectaries.

Produce Clerk
to Division Manager

Mr. D. K. McRae heads the group of 100 Winn-Dixie Stores operating out of the New Orleans Division. McRae started his grocery career in 1946 with the H. G. Hill Grocery Stores in New Orleans, Louisiana, as a produce clerk trimming corn and washing potatoes. He subsequently worked as a produce manager, assistant store manager, store manager and was then promoted to store supervisor. In 1953, McRae was picked to go into the H. G. Hill general office to serve as personnel manager. He received training over the following eight years with Hill Stores and subsequently with Winn-Dixie Stores as a produce buyer, frozen food buyer, grocery buyer and then grocery merchandiser. Mr. McRae's extensive training and hard work paid off when he was promoted to retail operations superintendent in 1961 and went on to become Division Manager of the New Orleans based division in August of 1970. Since becoming division manager, McRae has spearheaded a growth pattern for his division to be envied by all.

Winn-Dixie
Sells Top
Quality

Winn-Dixie is known to the public by the quality of the products it sells. Maintaining top quality in the food items offered to the housewife is no easy task, and one about which the average shopper knows little. However, putting its best food forward day after day and year after year through a vigorous quality control program is an integral and vital part of Winn-Dixie's over-all operations. WINN-DIXIE'S quality control program goes farther than official quality control. It covers all provisions that are required by official regulations, such as health of employees, sanitation of plants, wholesomeness of the products, and compliance with legal standards, but it also supervises other aspects of quality and public-health standards.

For example, the flavor of foods is given almost no consideration by regulatory officials, but this is one of the most important of Winn-Dixie's considerations. Milk may be pure, but have an "off" flavor. Ice cream that is coarse or soggy may be legal, but unpalatable. Bread may comply with the law, but the public may not relish it. Samples of Winn-Dixie popular Handi-Pak ground beef are sent in to the Jacksonville laboratory from each division manufacturing the package to be checked for bacteria and fat content. Winn-Dixie sells ground beef, not hamburger.

FREQUENT inspections are made to see; first-hand, what the sanitation picture looks like. Personal habits of the personnel involved in trimming the beef, preparing it for grinding and packaging, are observed. Also checked is the equipment that is ground, and the equipment.

WASHINGTON WORKSHOP -- Congressman Trent Lott was on hand recently in the Nation's Capitol to welcome Mississippians Penny Schilling of Waveland (left) and Mary Ann Schindler of Bay St. Louis, who were participating in the Washington Workshop Congressional Seminar. Competition keen in CEDS Science Fair Competition within the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade classes for the annual Science Fair last week was keen with an excellent display of projects to attract parents, friends and fellow students. Dannie Beth Dearing took top honors in the sixth grade with her display showing the natural way to purify water. In the fifth grade Sandra Brown and Hibi Pendleton joined forces in demonstrating the sensitive feeling of plants, they were awarded first place.

Fourth graders Christy Lang and Karrie Brown developed an interest, working water filtration system to receive first place for their project. On the sixth grade level, Cheryl Carlson's project entitled DO PLANTS HAVE FEELINGS? and Harra Shortle's EFFECT OF THE VOICE ON CACTI tied for second place; there was a three-way tie for third place with Peter Casano, Jata Munro, and Shelly Stewart and Elizabeth Santa Cruz taking the honors.

Rachel Gex was awarded second place in the fifth grade with her experiment on water filtration. While there was no third place award given in this grade, there was a three-way tie for Honorable Mention with Michael Cambre, Michelle Moore, and John Fahnestock receiving the awards.

THE HUMAN BRAIN, a project by fourth graders Catherine Hennessey, Teresa Ehrlich and Kimberly Moore, took second place in that class, while Hayward Guenard and Joseph Kelly were awarded a third-place ribbon for their project entitled DINOSAUR LIFE TIME CHART.

While not judged in the competition, the first, second and third-grade children completed the elementary science picture with both individual and group science projects on display for the occasion.

'74 Predicted To Be Big Year For Home Gardens

MISSISSIPPI STATE -- Re-crease will require real planning better chance of getting what member the victory gardens of now to get the necessary seed, they want. The 1940's and how many. "Homeowners can save substantially by growing their own vegetables. About 57 cents of each dollar spent for vegetables are due to costs other than growing the vegetables," the horticulturist said. "Homeowners can have twice as much for what they spend if they grow their own."

Planting low quality seed results in poor stands, weak plants and plants which grow off slower and mature later than seeds with high vigor. You can often harvest a week earlier by using seeds with good vigor. Garrett said authorities are predicting shortages of some vegetable seeds this year. Caution urged in planned burnings

Hancock County Forester Michael Hendry of the Mississippi Forestry Commission has urged extreme caution to local landowners planning outdoor burning in preparation for spring planting.

"For the next several weeks," the forester said, "numerous landowners will be busy cleaning fence rows and preparing garden spots and fields for planting. This means lots of debris fires, and the threat of destructive wildfires is greatly pronounced."

Hendry points out that dead foliage and straw fields are now tinderdry, and that one spark from burning debris could be sufficient to send a raging wildfire on a path of destruction.

"With the county's economy greatly dependent upon forest resources, the protection of its forests from wildfire cannot be over-emphasized. Therefore, I urge everyone who plans to do any outdoor burning to take precautions to assure that a harmless 'cleanup' fire doesn't become a destructive wildfire."

Hendry lists several precautionary measures that should be considered when doing outdoor burning:

1. Notify the Forestry Commission lookout tower of your intentions to burn, giving date and location. Weather information pertinent to the risk involved in burning on any particular day is available. The tower number is 255-7152.
2. Plow or disc a firelane around the area to be burned.
3. Burn late in afternoon or early evening when winds are calmest and humidity highest. 4. Stay with the fire until it has completely burned out. The Mississippi Forestry Commission provides assistance in constructing safe firelanes at a minimal cost to the landowner. For further details concerning this service, call 255-7152 or 467-5456.

Donkey basketball comes to Hancock North Central School April 11.

The ball game, played from the backs of trained donkeys, is hailed as wilder than a rodeo and funnier than a circus.

known Buckeye Donkey Ball Co. of Columbus, Ohio. The donkeys they will furnish range from docile to rambunctious and stationary to sprightly — and all unpredictable.

The H.N.C. basketball team will play against the H.N.C.

football team in this exhibition game, which begins at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Advance tickets may be obtained from any member of the H.N.C. yearbook staff.

The prices are student, $1.00 adv. - $1.25 door; Adult, $1.25 adv. - $1.50 door.

Jackson Yacht Club will be host this weekend for the Annual GYA Opening Regatta, April 6 and 7, officially beginning the Gulf Yachting Association's 1974 racing season. Bay-Waveland will be represented in the GYA Scot class by skippers Marc and Bubby Egan and Woody Stieffel sailing BWYC's new green boat. Ann Stieffel will sail in the OPEN SCOT class, with Cindy Stieffel and Weezie. The Semi-Annual GYA Board of Directors meeting will take place Sunday morning at Jackson Yacht Club, to elect the new flag officers for the coming year.

Those who attended the Ladies Luncheon at the club last Wednesday were entertained by a delightful parade of Easter and summer fashions presented by The Little Mushroom. The little people added some novel personal touches to the art of modeling, making the show a very memorable one, complete with a live Easter Bunny. Mrs. Marcia Arligues directed the program. Friday, April 12 - BWYC

Board of Governors Meeting 7:30 p.m.

BWYC Juniors will hold their Annual Easter Dance on Saturday, April 13, from 8 p.m. to midnight, with music by Nantucket Sound. Admission will be $2 each for members - $2.50 guests.

BWYC Juniors are urged to attend a membership meeting at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 13, to elect new Junior officers and begin planning their activities for the coming season. The meeting will be held in the Captain Harry Koch Junior Room at the yacht club.

Jourdan River Classic - April 20 and 21 officially opens the racing season at Bay-Waveland with the GYA Invitational Jourdan River Regatta. This will be a two race series, one race each day for Flying Scots and Sunfish, starting and finishing in front of the club, and wind permitting, sailing as far as the I-10 bridge over the Jourdan. Skippers who wish to sail a BWYC Scot in this event should sign the entrance sheet on the club bulletin board. Drawing will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 19 for the six skippers.

Sunfish Sailors - A full season of racing is being planned, with starts following the Scots. Plans call for a meeting of the Sunfish class to establish class and racing rules, and to elect a committee for this year's activities. Registration is now underway for Sunfish sailors of all ages. The registration fee of $5.00 per boat will be used to cover costs of awards for the season's races.

The 1974 Sears Cup for the national junior sailing championship will include Sunfish competition for the first time. Qualifications are the same as for the regular Sears activities. The BWYC representative will be determined by a scheduled elimination series. All eligible Junior skippers should plan to participate. The first inter-club Sears event will be the Western District Eliminations to be sailed at Bay-Waveland on May 11 and 12th.

Island Cruise - The date is set for May 25 and 26.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dee) Ellison

Fresh water fishing is O.K. right now. Waters are clearing rapidly in the Pearl River area. No use mentioning the old familiar places, they are alright for fly fishing and casting. Tides are still rising in the afternoons but it does not seem to make any difference. The fish are biting most any type of bait until dark. Perch and goggle eyes are tearing up perch baits on the fly rod. The blue gills and goggle-eye run as much as one-half pound. Bass are hitting artificial plugs and popping bugs where clear water is found. The bass seem to be a little larger, nothing to catch a few two pounders or better with a three to three and one-half pounder thrown in.

As for salt water fishing it is on the slow side according to such old timers as J.C. Baxter, Sam Favre, Bub Genin, John Scaife, Sr. and Jr., Harry Roman, Louis Decell, Hoke Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Heath and C.C. McDonald, Jr. and the boys down Bayou Caddy way. According to reports salt water fishing should improve shortly. Louis Decell said it had better pick up, or he is going to fresh water fishing.

Bill (Bama) Callahan had the misfortune of losing a foot on March 2. He is in a wheel chair. Doing alright and said he is ready to get back to fishing. Emily is his fishing partner. They do mostly fresh water fishing.

Paul Danner and Langdon Anderson are doing a little extra work at the Bay. They both love fishing, hunting and catching crayfish. When on off time they can be found fishing or crayfishing.

John Chevis and Dan Edwards caught 10 pounds of crayfish the other day. Know of any better sport?

David Trombley is an ardent fly fisherman. He was asking questions about fishing spots west of Pearl River. Just follow your nose, David. You will find bass and perch most anywhere as soon as the waters clear in East Middle River, Middle River, Deer, Fawn and Buck Bayous, plus Ceylon Bayou. Using the proper bait is one of the main factors.

It is with real sorrow I report the death of my friend and fishing partner, Jerome Carver, who was killed in an auto accident Thursday afternoon. Jerome was an ardent fisherman and was in his eighties. A real guy and true friend. Sympathy is extended to his family.

Fishing trips can be much safer when there are no drinks aboard. Fish when you fish and drink when you drink is a pretty logical practice. One can't fall out of a boat when on dry land.

Glad to know that Roy Craft is coming along alright after an eye operation.

Eddie, Englehorn and Marion were married one day last week. They both love fishing. Looking forward to some nice trips on their new boat.

With all the chickens they are killing and burying in Mississippi they could at least save the necks. They make good crab bait.

As announced by the Waveland Civic Association: Our Ball and Parade are now history - both were wonderful and the entire project was very successful - a good job by our responsible Committee Chairmen. Thanks to all who worked to make it such a success.

Our April meeting is a very important one - you the membership attending will nominate and elect the five officers for the 1974-1975 term. This meeting will be held at Trapani's, 7:30 p.m. - Thursday, April 11 - be there to nominate and help elect officers of your choice.

Have you noticed the activity on your "rock pile fishing spot" at the head of Terrace Street? When finished you will be able to trailer launch your boat. Looks like we are making some progress, said Archie Diebold, secretary of the club. All fishermen will enjoy this new innovation.

Joe Cook Kellar said he was going turkey hunting Sunday. Joe is an old time turkey hunter. Waiting to hear how he made out.

Sam P. Mitchell of Waveland loves to fish and crab. Goes after them when ever he can.

Dick Kolstad is another ardent fisherman - He does mostly trolling for fish and uses lures when casting. Does both fresh and salt water fishing.

Walter Tanguis of Waveland is a long time fisherman and hunter. Goes with his son, Poss Tanguis. They also catch shrimp when they are runn'g.

T. C. Capers of Shoreline Park loves to do any kind of fishing as long as it is fishing. Won't tell you how many he catches.

Bill Burke, Jr., Deputy Sheriff of Jefferson Parish, under Sheriff Alwynn Cronovich and bailiff for Judge Douglas A. Allen spends a lot of time at the Bay fishing, crabbing, etc. Says there is no place like the Gulf Coast for recreation.

Lawrence Freeman of Waveland is a fresh water fisherman and geologist. He goes after large mouth bass. Says he is the best at catching them. We doubt it.

Wild Turkey hunting time is here. The season runs from March 23 to April 21. Wild turkeys are slimmer, darker and more streamlined than domestic ones. Both sexes have a "beard," a hair-like tuft of breast feathers. Females are smaller and lighter. Turkeys prefer open woods with clearings or western parklands. They need bushy cover, water and a supply of acorns, beechnuts, wild grapes, dogwood and other fruits. Our woods are full of these feeds. The birds will also take grain, seeds and in summer, large insects. Believe it or not, turkeys roost in trees and feed in early

Harold DeMetz

W H Y HAROLD DEMETZ IS A CANDIDATE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

(HARRISON, HANCOCK AND STONE COUNTIES)

I have served as your Assistant District Attorney in Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties since July 1, 1972.

From July 1, 1972 through March 31, 1974, I personally prosecuted and secured convictions in rape, armed robbery, manslaughter, narcotics, burglary, parole violations and grand larceny cases.

As your Assistant District Attorney, I was repeatedly discouraged to see our police officers diligently and fairly compile case evidence; hear the jury return a guilty verdict; and then witness the Circuit Judge mete out a "slap on the hand" sentence to convicted felons.

The most striking examples; the two (2) cases that finally broke the camel's back, and firmly convinced me that something had to be done to change this situation were:

(1) When a JURY CONVICTED a woman of beating her two year-old baby to death, the Judge sentenced the woman to a three-year term in the State Penitentiary. If ever a convicted felon should have received a lengthy penitentiary sentence, this was the case! The baby had multiple skull fractures with severe brain injuries. Her liver was damaged, and her little body was literally beaten to a pulp.

(2) When a JURY CONVICTED a man of manslaughter, the Circuit Judge sentenced the defendant to 2 years non-reporting probation and a $3,000 fine. This was a case that cried out for a penitentiary sentence! The man used a pistol to shoot down a 17 year-old boy in the street when the young man was winning a fist fight against the defendant's son!!

The above are just two examples of what I feel is wrong with the Circuit Courts in Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. I could name many cases showing the extremely lenient attitude of the Courts in this district.

Judges should be concerned with protecting the rights of criminal defendants, BUT, I feel it's high time that someone, somewhere should be concerned with the rights of the VICTIM of crimes; and with protecting the public from these felons. Our police officers cannot do it alone! It stands to reason that unless a criminal knows he will be punished for his criminal act, there is absolutely nothing to stop him from committing crime after crime!

My trial experience in the Circuit Courts has qualified me to represent you, the law abiding citizens of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties, on the Circuit Court Bench. I pledge to you there will be justice in my court; justice for the criminal defendant, BUT ALSO, justice for the general public. Every lawyer, regardless of his experience and standing, will be treated the same; there will be no favorites! Every juror will be treated with respect and consideration. I pledge that as your Circuit Judge I will speak for you, the law abiding majority; I pledge that I will be strict with convicted felons; there will be no coddling of convicted criminals in my Court!
